PREFACE AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am both pleased and honoured that FIDE have again granted their auspices to this fourth Yearbook. That backing has made it possible to obtain material that would otherwise have been unobtainable.

The task of compiling and checking the material for the Yearbook is an enormous one. This task has been greatly exacerbated by the ever-swelling tide of international tournaments. Indeed, the proliferation of these events has been most noticeable during the preparation of these yearbooks: in the first year there were 60, in the second year 75, last year 100, now this year 140! This explosion may even make the Yearbook's future unviable; already this year national events, except for male national championships, have had to be excluded for space considerations. Only the future will tell.

I am greatly indebted to all the people without whose help in information gathering it would be an impossible task to compile the Yearbook. I wish to thank all those who helped. Above all I must thank Ineke Bakker (FIDE Secretary) for her unfailing help.

Special thanks must also go to Roger Mylward, Len Perry and Jeremy Silman who all provided assistance in the horrible task of reading the proofs.

Last but not least I must thank my contributors Dr Max Euwe and Tony Miles.

Finally, corrections and any important information missing from this volume will be most welcome. They should be sent to me c/o B.T. Batsford, 4 Fitzhardinge Street, London W1H 0AH.

COUNTRY CODE ABBREVIATIONS

For several years I have been campaigning for the establishment of a universal FIDE system of country code abbreviations. I am glad to see that the latest FIDE rating list uses substaintially the three letter system that I circulated to prominent FIDE members. Unfortunately, FIDE's decision to use this system was taken after much of the work on this yearbook had been completed; so the Yearbook uses the old mixed system. The column with the three letter system shows those that have already been used by FIDE as well as those/that I originally suggested which either have not been used or which have been altered. Any comments from interested observers (historians, geographers and linguists?) would be most welcome, both by me and by FIDE.

1. REVIEW OF THE YEAR

by FIDE President Dr Max Euwe

FIDE's most important events (e.g. elections, World Championships, Chess Olympiads) are organised at greater intervals than one year which means that a certain year has – as far as FIDE-activities are concerned – not much in common with the next or the previous year.

The year of 1977 was notable for the Candidates' Matches, both for men and ladies. All the men's quarter finals were equally exciting, although for different reasons. Mecking-Polugayevsky was remarkable because of the many draws; Hort-Spassky because, at the very last minute, the decision jumped from the apparent winner to the other player. In the match Korchnoi-Petrosian a Soviet player met a dissident for the first time. The struggle was fierce, but did not reach a high level. Finally, Portisch-Larsen was somewhat disturbed by the insufficient soundproofing of the playing hall, which led to a number of unpleasant moves – moves perhaps in more than one sense of the word.

The semi-finals went more normally and without special problems. Against Portisch Spassky showed better form than against Hort, while Korchnoi demonstrated an irresistible power which annihilated Polugayevsky's chances. The final match between Korchnoi and Spassky had some deplorable aspects which I would rather not revive. Many problems were put to FIDE and the organizing committee.

In the Ladies' Candidates' Matches problems arose too, but of a quite different nature – e.g. it appeared impossible to find an organizer for the quarter final Kushnir-Levitina. Only after having decreased the usual conditions (with the consent of players and federations) and after a considerable donation from a private source, were the many negotiations at last successfully concluded. Another stumbling block presented itself when the starting date had to be fixed; it was difficult to bring the two sides together and, before reaching an agreement, I had to bear the usual insults and insinuations.

It is a great pity that ladies' chess is not as popular as men's chess; until now, ladies' chess has been barely recognised. Notwithstanding that, FIDE will continue its policy and strive towards complete equality of both categories. Not all the Candidates' Matches for Ladies could be finished in 1977. The final match, together with the Match for the World Championship, remain for the next year, just as in the previous cycle.

The Candidates' Matches were not the only FIDE events. We also had several junior championships, the European team championship and a number of other continental tournaments.

The Asian Team Championship was the most remarkable through the participation of China for the first time. This premiere was a successful one: China finished second after the Philippines, ahead of eight other Asian and Australasian teams. The Philippines are setting a good example. Chess is very popular there and the President of the Philippines is probably the most chess-minded Head-of-State in the world. We hope that the match for the men's World Championship, to be held in the Philippines, will be another stimulus for chess in Asia.

In the Americas, after a hesitant start, the Chess Confederation of the Americas is stimulating chess in the area, to the extent that now individual, junior and team championships are held regularly with ever-increasing numbers of participants.

In Africa the many new federations demonstrate the growing interest for chess. These young federations are already playing an active part internationally: international matches are being organized; players are participating in FIDE-tournaments. At the same time these federations are working very hard on the expansion of chess in their countries, and with success.

The number of affiliated federations has reached the magic number of 100 and we still have a list of several federations which are interested. So the future of Chess all over the world seems to be well guaranteed.

10 d5 ♘a5 11 ♗c2 c6 12 h3!? has also experienced some popularity recently.

12	♗c2	c5
13	♘bd2	c×d4

16	h3

Pawnsnatching by 16 e×d5 ♘×d5 17 ♗×h7+ ♔×h7 18 ♕c2+ ♔g8 19 ♕×c6 is not to be recommended, 19 . . . ♗b4! as in Tseshkovsky–Korchnoi, Sochi 1970.

16	. . .	♗h5
17	g4! (1)
17	. . .	d×e4?

Misunderstanding the position. 17 . . . ♗g6 was correct.

18 g×h5!

The bishop pair far outweighs the shattered pawns. In addition Black's knights have no safe squares.

18	. . .	e×f3
19	♕×f3	♘b4?

Missing the last chance to eliminate one of the bishops.: 19 . . . ♘d4! Then 20 ♗×d4 ♕×d4 21 ♘b3 ♕a7! (Not 21 . . . ♕×b2 22 ♖e2! with a strong initiative) gives Black good chances of saving the game. Also interesting, but highly dubious, is 19 . . . ♕d5 (20 ♘e4 ♘×h5).

20	♗b3	♘bd5
21	♗g5

White's position is probably already winning, Black is completely tied up.

21	. . .	h6
22	♗h4	♖e8

♖a7 immediately is a little better.

23 ♖ad1 ♖a7
24 ♘e4 ♖d7

Or 24 . . . ♘×e4 25 ♖×d5 ♘d6 26 ♖×d6 wins.

25 ♘g3! ♘c7
26 ♘f5 ♗b4

Otherwise ♘×e7+ and ♗×f6 follows.

27 ♘×h6+ 1–0

27 . . . ♔f8 (or 27 . . . g×h6 28 ♗×f6) 28 ♖×e8+ ♘c×e8 29 ♖×d7 ♕×d7 30 ♘×f7 with ♘e5 (or ♘h8) to follow is hopeless.

9 . . . ♗c7

10 d4! ♘d7

If 10 . . . e×d4 either 11 ♘e2 or the more enterprising 11 e5!? when a) 11 . . . d×e5 12 ♗×c6+ b×c6 13 ♕×c6+ ♘d7 14 ♗g5 ♗e7 15 ♗×e7 ♔×e7 16 ♘d5+ followed by f4 gives White a strong attack; or b) 11 . . . ♘d7 12 e×d6 with the nice possibility 12 . . . ♗×d6 13 ♗×c6 b×c6 14 ♖e1+ ♘e5 15 ♕×c6+ ♔f8 16 ♗h6+ ♔g8 17 ♘d5! winning!—The threats are ♕×a8 and ♕e8+, and if 17 . . . ♘×c6 18 ♖e8+ whilst 17 . . . f6 allows 18 ♖×e5 f×e5 19 ♘×c7.

11 d×e5 ♘d×e5
12 ♕e2 ♗g7
13 ♗e3 0–0
14 ♖ad1 ♘a5?!

A strange move, but White has a clear advantage so, presumably, Smyslov wants to confuse the issue.

15 c5 b5
16 c×b6 c×b6
17 ♘d5 ♘ec4
18 ♗d4 b5
19 ♗×g7 ♔×g7
20 b4!

Much better than 20 ♗b3 ♘×b3 21 a×b3 ♘b6 when Black should survive.

20 . . . b×a4
21 b×a5

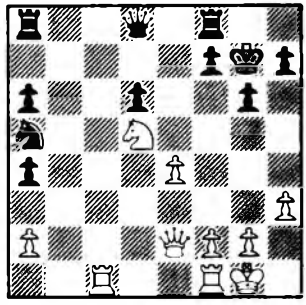
Now Black cannot challenge the ♘(d5) which dominates the board.

21 . . . ♘×a5

The interpolation of 21 . . . ♖c8 22 ♖c1 does not help matters—both black a-pawns would drop.

22 ♖c1

2



Now White is poised to take over the seventh rank and the long diagonal. In addition Black's Knight is most unhappy.

22 . . . a3

If 22 . . . ♖c8 23 ♕×a6 is good enough.

23 ♕d2 ♖b8

Practically the only legal move. ♖c8 and ♖a7 are both now impossible and the attempt to regroup the Knight by 23 . . . ♘b7 fails neatly to 24 ♖c7 ♘c5 25 ♕c3+ ♔h6 26 ♘f6! ♕×c7 (or 26 . . . g5 27 f4) 27 ♘g4+ ♔h5 28 ♕g7! and ♕h6 mate.

24 ♕c3+ ♔h6

24 . . . f6 loses instantly to 25 ♘c7!

25 ♘f6 g5

7 ♖e1 f5

8 d×e5 0–0

9 ♗b3+ ♔h8

10 ♘c3!

Exchanges off Black's best piece. The doubled pawns are not significant.

10 . . . ♘×c3

11 b×c3 h6

If 11 . . . d6 12 e×d6 ♗×d6 13 ♘g5! is strong.

12 a4 a5

But this is weak and concedes b5 for the White Knight. The immediate b6 was surely better.

13 ♖b1 b6

14 ♗d5 ♗b7

15 ♘d4 ♖b8

16 ♘b5 ♗c5

17 ♕h5

White finds no end of outposts in opposition territory, and now the threats begin to materialise. Obviously ♗×h6 is the immediate worry, and it is by no means easy to meet. On 17 . . . ♔h7 18 ♗f4 gives White a tremendous bind, or 17 . . . f4 18 ♖c4! ♕g5 19 ♕×g5 h×g5 20 h4! with advantage. In all cases White's central space advantage is crucial. Consequently Black seeks salvation by exchanging queens.

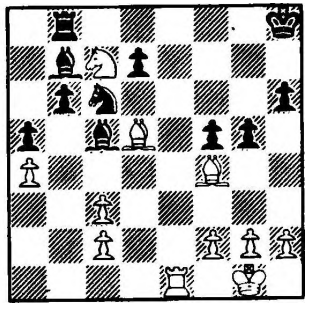
20 ♗f4 ♖×e1+

21 ♖×e1 g5?

3



Better is ♖f8 though White retains a clear plus.

22 ♘a6!

Forcing the gain of the bishop pair, which, in this instance is practically decisive.

22 . . . ♖c8

Of course any capture loses the exchange.

9	0-0	0-0
10	♖e1	♘f6
11	a3	b6
12	♗c2	♗b7
13	♕d3	g6

13 . . . ♖c8? 14 d5! is almost a forced win: 14 . . . e×d5 15 ♗g5 ♘e4 (15 . . . g6 16 ♖×e7!) 16 ♘×e4 d×e4 17 ♕×e4 etc.

14	♗h6	♖e8
15	♖ad1	♖c8
16	♗b3!

Having done its work on the b1–h7 diagonal (forcing g6) the bishop moves to new pastures. Now Black must guard against d5 when the opening up of the position would leave White with the freer game and pressure against f7.

16	. . .	♘a5
17	♗a2	♘d5
18	♘e4	♖c7
19	♘e5	♗f8

19 . . . f6? would allow 20 ♘×g6! h×g6 21 ♘g5! winning e.g. 21 . . . ♘f4 22 ♗×e6+ or 21 . . . f5 22 ♘×e6 ♕d7 23 ♘×c7 ♕×c7 24 b4. But the recentralising 19 . . . ♘c6 might be better.

20 ♗g5 ♗e7
21 ♗×e7 ♖e×e7

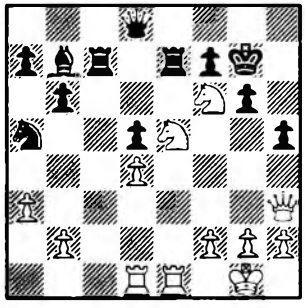
An awkward capture, but 21 . . . ♕×e7 22 ♘g4! threatens to fork on f6. (22 . . . ♔g7 23 ♕d2)

22 ♗×d5! e×d5(!)

Even worse is 22 . . . ♗×d5 23 ♘f6+ ♔g7 24 ♕h3! when 24 . . . ♔×f6 runs into a mate after 25 ♘g4+ ♔g7 26 ♕h6+ and ♘f6, so Black is reduced to 24 . . . h6 or h5 when his King-side is indefensible. Now at least he has the chance to funnel some defenders along the third rank.

23 ♘f6+ ♔g7
24 ♕h3! h5

24 . . . ♔×f6 is mate as in the previous note.



25 ♘×h5+! g×h5
26 ♖d3! ♕h8!

The only move to offer serious resistance.

27 ♖g3+ ♔f8
28 ♖g5! ♖e6

Or 28 . . . h4 29 ♖g4 ♖e6 30 ♖×h4 ♕f6 31 f4! with a strong attack—Black cannot flee to the c-file because of f5.

29 ♕×e6 f×e6
30 ♘g6+ ♔g7
31 ♘×h8+ ♔×h8
32 ♖×h5+ ♔g7
33 h4

White has a clear advantage in the ending. Black's bishop is still very bad and his king exposed.

33 . . . ♘c6

On the passive 33 . . . ♗c8 34 ♖e3 is unpleasant.

34 ♖×e6 ♘×d4
35 ♖g5+ ♔h7
36 ♖d6 ♖f7
37 f3 ♘f5?

A blunder, but in the long run there is no answer to White's pawn roller.

d) 25 ... ♖×b2! Now if 26 ♔×b2 ♕b6+ 27 ♔a3 (or 27 ♔c3 ♘e2+ 28 ♖×e2 ♕d4+ wins) 27 ... ♕a5+ 28 ♔b2 ♖b7+ 29 ♔c1 ♖b1+! and mate in two. Or 26 ♗×e5 ♖b1+ 27 ♔×b1 ♕b6+ wins. So 26 ♗×d7. Then 26 ... ♖b1+ draws, but what about 26 ... e4! The threat is ♖b1+ mating and if 27 c3 ♖b1+! anyway—or 27 ♕f8+ ♕×f8 28 ♗×f8 e3. So 27 ♗c7 ♕e7 28 ♗d6 ♘e2+ 29 ♖×e2 ♕×d6 30 ♖×e4 ♖b8! with ♗b2+ to follow.

Black's minor pieces occupy excellent posts and should be able to repel any gestures down the h-file.

An oversight, which loses a pawn, but inadvertantly produces the sort of messy open position which Spassky handles so well. Instead 21 h5 is strong for instance 21 . . . ♘g5(?) 30	♕f8	♖×e2

With admirable coolness Black snaffles another pawn. However it is not so much the pawn that is important as the need for f3 and /or h3 as possible flight squares for the Black King.)

31 ♘g8 h5?

An understandable mistake. Black wants to provide pawn cover for his King, but as it happens he chooses the wrong colour. 31 . . . ♔g4! heading for the white squares would be safer, when it is hard to see how White would continue his attack. For that matter, it is not even clear that is is White who is attacking!

32 ♘h6!

Suddenly it becomes clear that the Black King would have been happier in his opponent's territory.

32 . . . ♗d2

Practically forced. If, for instance 32 . . . ♖c7 33 h4+ ♔f6 34 ♖d6+ ♔e5 (34 . . . ♖e6 35 ♕h8+ and ♕d8 mate) 35 f4+ ♔c4 36 ♕e8+

33 ♘×f7+?

White has a nice idea in mind, but it does not quite work. The right way was 33 ♖×d2! ♖×d2 34 h4+ ♔f6 35 ♖e1! threatening ♕h8 mate. Then 35 . . . ♖c2 fails to 36 ♖×c2 ♕×c2 37 ♕×f7+ and ♕e7+ so 35 . . . g5 36 ♕h8+ ♔g6 37 ♘g8! and the Black King will not live long.

36 . . . ♕g4!!

37 ♘g5+ ♖×g5

38 f×g4 ♖g2+

39 ♔h1 ♖c5!

A small finesse. Not 39 . . . ♖×h2+ first as White would reach the time control safely with 40 ♔g1.

40 ♕d8?

The decisive error. On 40 ♕d7! Black has no more than a draw.

40 . . . ♖×h2+

41 ♔g1 g5!

Now the Black King is completely safe! White sealed 42 ♖b1 but resigned without further play since 42 . . . ♖4c2 regains the Queen with an easy win.

Preparing to answer d5 by transfering the Knight to d6, but one well-placed piece rarely holds up an entire army.

13 e4 ♘fd7 is roughly equal.

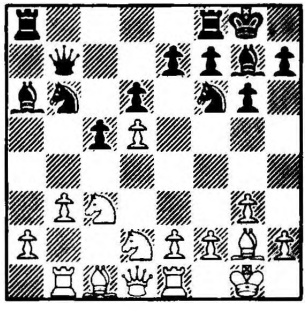
14 b3?!

Either 14 e4 or 14 ♘f1 would be preferable. For instance 14 ♘f1 ♗c4 15 b3 ♗×d5 16 ♘×d5 ♘f×d5 17 ♘e3 and the bishop pair balances Black's central control.

15



14 . . . ♘f×d5!

Presumably this came as a surprise to Hort.

15 ♘×d5 ♘×d5
16 ♘f1

Anticipating 16 . . . e6 17 ♘e3 regaining the pawn (17 . . . ♘×e3 18 ♗×e3 picks up the exchange or the c-pawn).

16 . . . ♘c3!!

A lovely queen offer. Black recoups only rook and minor piece but his pieces take over almost the whole board.

17 ♗×b7 ♗×b7!

Not 17 . . . ♘×d1?? 18 ♗×a6 ♘c3 19 ♗d3 winning.

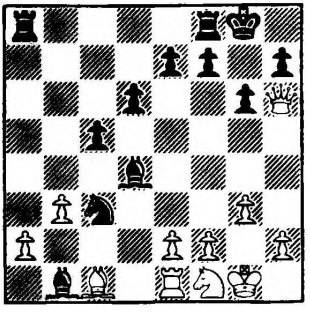
18 ♕d3 ♗c4

19 ♕e3 ♗d4!

19 . . . ♗×b1 20 ♕×e7 gives White unnecessary counterplay.

20 ♕h6 ♗×b1

16



A remarkable transformation. White's centre has been swept away and his Queen-side is about to follow. The whole White army controls scarcely a dozen squares in one corner of the board.

21 a3 ♗a2

22 ♘d2 ♖fb8

23 b4

Hurrying to exchange off Black's c-pawn which would otherwise become a potent force after . . . ♗×b3. But now the Black rooks join the battle. White's last hope is that the elimination of the Queen-side pawns will allow him to survive in the small sector of the board which he can call his own.

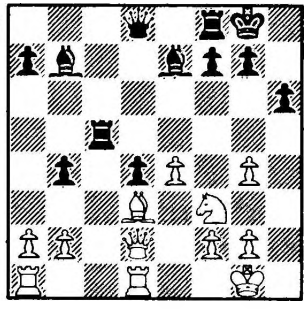
17



An interesting situation. One's first impression is, that Black, with the bishop pair and an energetic position, stands better. But it is not so easy to formulate a plan and perhaps the d-pawn will become weak. Ideally White would like to break with g5 but this seems completely out of the question at the moment. However Polugaevsky, possibly demoralised by the 5-1 score, drifts and in no time at all the impossible happens.

A remarkable position. It seems that White must be able to break through but the method is not so clear. 15 ♘×e6? is a self-pin allowing 15 . . . ♗c8; 15 ♗a3!? is an interesting suggestion of Sosonko, threatening simply ♕h4. But then 15 . . . ♘×d4! 16 c×d4 e×d4 17 ♕h4 c5 with ♕a4 to follow and White's King is the more exposed, though the outcome is anyone's guess. 8. FIDE INTERNATIONAL TITLE REGULATIONS approved by the 1976 General Assembly

These regulations were:-

0.0 Introduction

0.1 FIDE acknowledges solely such chess titles as have been acquired in accordance with its established conditions.

0.2 The international FIDE titles are:

0.21 Titles automatically acquired through results obtained in certain competitions (tournaments and matches). Such titles are registered by the President of FIDE. (Sections 2.11, 2.22, 2.23, 2.24, 2.32, 2.42, 2.43.)

0.22 Titles awarded to players on account of results in competitions other than listed under 0.21 above. Such titles are awarded by the General Assembly (Central Committee). (Sections 2.12, 2.13; 2.21, 2.31, 2.41.)

0.23 Titles awarded for merits in chess activities other than practiced play. Such titles are bestowed or acknowledged, respectively, by the General Assembly (Central Committee.)

0.3 Titles listed under subparagraphs 0.22 and 0.23 can be awarded only by recommendations of the Qualification Commission established by FIDE.

0.4 Members of the Qualification Commission:

0.41 Elected by the General Assembly for the same period of office as valid for the FIDE President:
A president or chairman
A vice-chairman
A secretary
Five experts

0.42 Members due to their office:
The President of FIDE, if he is not chairman of te Commission
The Deputy-Presidents of FIDE
The Zonal Presidents of FIDE

0.43 As a rule, the Commission makes its decisions during sessions preceeding immediately the opening of the General Assembly (Central Committ-see Art. 5.1 of thw FIDE Statutes). When absent a Zonal President may give proxy to a representative.

0.5 If not expressly stipulated otherwise in these regulations, voting is effected as perceived by Art. 4.5, 4.5, 4.8 and 4.9 of the FIDE Statutes.

0.6 Exception: In exceptional cases, the Commission may bestow a title by correspondence voting. Only regular members are authorized to participate in the vote.

1.0 International Titles

1.1 The Titles of FIDE are:

1.11 Titles for over-the-board chess:
Grandmaster
International Master
Woman Grandmaster
International Woman Master
International Arbiter

1.12 Titles for chess composition:
Grandmaster of Chess Composition
International Master of Chess Composition
International Judge of Chess Composition

1.13 Titles for Correspondence Chess:
Grandmaster of Correspondence Chess
International Master of Correspondence Chess
International Arbiter for Correspondence Chess

1.2 Titles date from date awarded or registered and are valid for life.

1.3 Titles are awarded by the Congress upon report by the jedging unit that the candidate meets the requirements. The judging units are:

1.31 For over-the-board chess, the FIDE Qualification Commission.

1.32 For chess composition, the FIDE Permanent Commission for Chess Composition; and

1.33 For correspondence chess, the International Correspondence Chess Federation. ICCF both judges and awards the titles; upon report of the award, the Congress awards the titles in confirmation.

2.0 Requirements

2.1 Grandmaster:

2.11 Any player who qualifies for the Candidate Matches for the World Championship.

2.12 For an International Master: within a three year period, either (a) three Grandmaster results or (b) two such results in events covering at least 24 games.

2.13 For an untitled player: the requirements of 2.12 plus placement no lower than clear third in every event for which a result is to be counted.

2.2 International Master:

2.21 Within a three year period, either (a) three International Master results or (b) two such results in events covering at least 24 games.

2.22 First place in one of the following events:
Junior World Championship
Women's World Championship
European Junion Championship
American Junior Championship
Asian Junior Championship

2.23 A score of $66\frac{2}{3}\%$ in a Men's Zonal Tournament or a score entitling participation in the Men's Interzonal Tournament.

2.24 A score of $33\frac{1}{3}\%$ in a Men's Interzonal Tournament.

2.3 Woman Grandmaster:

2.31 Two Woman Grandmaster results within a three year period.

2.32 A score of $66\frac{2}{3}\%$ in a Woman's Interzonal Tournament.

2.4 International Woman Master:

2.41 Two International Woman Master results within a three year period.

2.42 A score in a Women's Zonal Tournament entitling participation in the Women's Interzonal Tournament.

2.43 A score of 50% in a Women's Interzonal Tournament.

2.5 International Arbiter
All of the following-

2.51 Thorough knowledge of the Laws of Chess and the FIDE regulations for chess competitions.

2.52 Absolute objectivity, demonstrated, at all times during his activity as an arbiter.

2.53 Sufficient knowledge of at least two FIDE official languages.

2.54 Experience as chief arbiter in at least four important chess competitions.

2.61 Grandmaster of Chess Composition:
The requirements established by the regulations of the FIDE PCCC.

2.62 International Master of Chess Composition:
The requirements established by the regulations of the FIDE PCCC.

2.63 International Judge of Chess Composition:
Frequent experience as a judge of important international competitions for chess composition (problems, studies, etc.), with demonstrated absolute objectivity.

2.7 Correspondence chess titles:
The requirements established by the ICCF.

3.0 Measurement of Over-the Board Play

3.1 Internationally Rated Play:
The basic data for measurement of chess performances must be broad and ample. Play shall be rated by FIDE when it meets all of the following requirements:

3.11 At least half of the players must be rated. If the event has less than ten players, all must be rated.

3.12 Play must confrom to the Laws of Chess. Speed of play may not exceed 45 moves in 2 hours.

3.13 A proper report, including an authenticated cross table, must reach the Secretary of the Qualification Commission within 30 days after play ends.

3.14 The event and report, as recommended by the Secretary and accepted by the Qualification Commission, must be found bona fide and suitable for rating and titling purposes.

3.2 Official FIDE Rating List:
Each year the Qualification Commission shall prepare a list incorporating the rated play during the year into the previous list, using the unique rating system formula based on the percentage expectancy curve and derived from the normal distribution function of statistical and probability theory. The list shall carry the following information:

3.21 The closing date, normally October 31. Rated play completed after the closing date will enter the computations only in exceptional cases.

3.22 The effective date, normally January 1. The list is applicable to all events beginning on or after that date.

3.23 A list of the rated events entering the computations.

3.24 The name and federation of each player whose rating exceeds 2200 (2000) for women) as of the current closing date or as of any of the two preceding closing dates. The women shall be listed separately.

3.25 The FIDE title held by each player listed.

3.26 The current rating of each player listed.

3.27 A supplementary list consisting of new names only is issued as of July 1 of each year.

3.3 Rated PLayers not on the List:
Players who appeared on previous lists but who, through inactivity or inadequate results, do not qualify under 3.24 are nonetheless considered currently rated, at their most recent published rating.

3.4 Unrated Players:
A nominal figure-2200 for a man, 2000 for a woman-is used to determine a tournament category for title purposes. Use of such players is limited by sections 4.11 and 3.14.

4.0 International Title Tournaments

4.1 An International Title Tournament shall ordinarily have at least 9 rounds and at least 10 players, of whom at least one-third shall be titleholders, at least one-third shall not come from one and the same federation, and at least three-fourth shall be rated. With less than 10 participants all must be titleholders.

4.2 The tournament should, if possible, be conducted by an International Arbiter. The requirements of 3.12, 3.13 and 3.14 must be met.

4.3 Tournaments are classified according to the strength of the participants, as indicated by the average rating. The categories of International Title Tournaments and the minimum percentage scores for title results are as follows:

Average Rating	Tournament Category	GM Result	IM Result	WGM Result	IWM Result
2051-2075	1W				76
2076-2100	2W				73
2101-2125	3W				70
2126-2150	4W				67
2151-2175	5W			76	64
2176-2200	6W			73	60
2201-2225	7W			70	57
2226-2250	8W			67	53
2251-2275	1		76	64	50
2276-2300	2		73	60	47
2301-2325	3		70	57	43
2326-2350	4		67	53	40
2351-2375	5	76	64	50	36
2376-2400	6	73	60	47	33
2401-2425	7	70	70	43	30
2426-2450	8	67	53	40
2451-2475	9	64	50	36
2476-2500	10	60	47	33
2501-2525	11	57	43	30
2526-2550	12	53	40
2551-2575	13	50	36
2576-2600	14	47	33
2601-2625	15	43	30
2626-2650	16	40

The average rating consists of a rating figure (from 3.2, 3.3, or 3.4) for each player, which have been totaled and then divided by the number of players.

4.4 The following additional provisions apply to the computation of title results:

4.41 A Candidate may consider himself and all his opponents in a Swiss or team event as a tournament under 4.1.

4.42 Players who do not belong to FIDE federations and the results of play against them may not be counted.

4.43 Grandmaster results in events having less than three Grandmasters are not valid.

4.44 Woman Grandmaster results and International Woman Master results in mixed events are not valid.

4.45 Results in events more than five years old may not be counted in title applications.

4.46 An IM result is earned by the winner of an event listed in 2.22 without regard to his percentage score.

5.0 Application Procedure

5.1 An application for title may be submitted to the appropriate judging unit by the candidate, by his federation, or by a member of the judging unit.

5.2 Contents of application:

5.21 Each application must contain the candidate's full name, address, date of birth, and federation affiliation; a statement that the fee required by the financial regulations has been forwarded to the numbered FIDE bank account; and sufficient information to establish the candidate's qualifications.

5.22 Standard application forms have been designed for certain titles. Applications for these titles must be presented on these forms, which may be obtained from FIDE headquarters.

5.23 Applications for titles based on performances in chess events must include a complete cross table, authenticated by the arbiter, for each event listed.

5.24 The order in which norm achievements are presented in title applications, as for the IM and IGM titles, is immaterial; however, any given result may not be used more than once in such applications.

5.25 Applications for the title International Arbiter should be supported by certificates from individuals whom the Qualification Commission can recognise as competent to certify. For example, qualification under 2.51 or 2.52 could be certified by FIDE officials, by International Arbiters, or by officials of the candidate's federation; qualification under 2.53 could be certified by university language professors.

5.3 Applications will be considered by the Congress if received by the judging unit at least 60 days before the Congress begins.

5.31 A late application will be considered for a title earned within 60 days of the Congress, provided the application is forwarded without delay and in sufficient time for proper processing and review.

9. FIDE INTERNATIONAL RATING LIST

This chapter combines the information in the 1976/7 Yearbook with that on the rating list of 30.12.1977 and the revised rating list of 28.4.1978 which replaced it. This is the only complete list of FIDE ratings published anywhere in the world.

The first column gives a player's most recent rating prior to the 1978 list, the second column gives the figure effective from 1.1.1978. No figure is entered for 1978 if a player's rating has not changed. '. . . .' indicates that a player was not included in the list. '*' indicates that a player's rating is only provisional; however, this is, as yet, of no real significance.

Batsford's FIDE Chess Yearbook 1977/8

The Batsford Yearbook is now an established feature of the international chess year. It is produced under the auspices of FIDE (the World Chess Federation) and in addition to a complete record of international events, it contains the only complete Rating list. This year, for the first time, the Review of the Year is contributed by the President of FIDE, Dr Max Euwe, who concentrates on the Karpov-Korchnoi match. The first British Grandmaster, Tony Miles, has also for the first time, contributed his selection of the twenty top games of the year.

The previous Yearbooks have been acclaimed by the international press:

'Book of the year . . . this reviewer admits to consulting it more frequently than any other book on his shelf' – Leonard Barden, The Guardian

'Un évènement' – Sylvain Zinser, Europe Echecs

'Probably the most useful and interesting book on chess I have ever had the pleasure of reviewing' – Bernier Johnson, Chess in Australia

'Het ideale schaak-jarrboek!' – 'B', Schakend Niderland

'O'Connell has done his work extremely well and I found all the contents interesting' – Harry Golombek, The Observer Magazine
